Valentine's Day, also called St. Valentine's Day, is celebrated annually on February 14. It originated as a Western Christian feast day honouring an early Christian martyr named St. Valentine and is recognized as a significant cultural, religious, and commercial celebration of romance and love in many regions of the world.

There are a number of martyrdom stories associated with various Valentines connected to February 14, including an account of the imprisonment of Saint Valentine of Rome for ministering to Christians persecuted under the Roman Empire in the third century. According to an early tradition, Saint Valentine restored sight to the blind daughter of his jailer. Numerous later additions to the legend have better related it to the theme of love: an 18th-century embellishment to the legend claims he wrote the jailer's daughter a letter signed "Your Valentine" as a farewell before his execution; another addition posits that Saint Valentine performed weddings for Christian soldiers who were forbidden to marry.

The Feast of Saint Valentine was established by Pope Gelasius I in AD 496 to be celebrated on February 14 in honour of Saint Valentine of Rome, who died on that date in AD 269. The day became associated with romantic love in the 14th and 15th centuries when notions of courtly love flourished, apparently by association with the "lovebirds" of early spring. In 18th-century England, it grew into an occasion in which couples expressed their love for each other by presenting flowers, offering confectionery, and sending greeting cards (known as "valentines"). Valentine's Day symbols that are used today include the heart-shaped outline, doves, and the figure of the winged Cupid. Since the 19th century, handwritten valentines have given way to mass-produced greeting cards. In Italy, St. Valentine's keys are given to lovers "as a romantic symbol and an invitation to unlock the giver's heart", as well as to children to ward off epilepsy (called Saint Valentine's Malady).

Saint Valentine's Day is not a public holiday in any country, although it is an official feast day in the Anglican Communion and the Lutheran Church. Many parts of the Eastern Orthodox Church also celebrate Saint Valentine's Day on July 6 in honor of Roman presbyter Saint Valentine, and on July 30 in honor of Hieromartyr Valentine, the Bishop of Interamna (modern Terni).

Gone but not Forgotten:

Calvin Kirk Lybbert (87) of Stirling, died January 23, 2021 of a heart attack at 4:30 a.m. and passed quickly. In spite of pain and declining health, he had gone to sleep happy the night before while singing one of his favourite songs "Somewhere my love". He has a deep and everlasting love for his wife and family. He is survived by his wife of 61 years, Marilyn Joyce Kiddle Lybbert, his children: Coralee (Don) Leeson of Stirling; Marty (Mellonie) Lybbert of Tofield; Vimmy (Dave) Berry of Valley View; Bradley (Desiree) Lybbert of Spruce Grove; Justin (Reva) Lybbert of Fishers, IN; Tyler (Christina) Lybbert of Drayton Valley; 28 grand children; and 26 great-grand children. Calvin is predeceased by his granddaughter Brittany Leeson. Calvin leaves behind a legacy larger than life. Born in Cardston on February 19, 1933, he moved at that young age with his family by horse and wagon 800 km to Cherry Grove. Raised and living his life ranching and wrangling, he has ridden more miles in a saddle than the average person drives a car. Cal was the third of 8 boys for Lloyd and Luella Lybbert. After grade 9 he got the choice to go back to school or go work on the Knight Ranch with his two older brothers in Raymond. Calvin's formal education ended at grade 9 and yet he had a wisdom and understanding of life that extended far beyond books. As Cal grew, his faith in God also grew. He had always wanted to serve a mission for his church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Finally, on his 23rd birthday he left to begin his mission in South Africa, teaching people of Christ. After 2 ½ years he returned home. After attending a church activity in Claresholm, he noticed Marilyn Kiddle standing under a light outside of the church waiting to go home. He felt she looked just like an angel and offered her a ride home. She became the love of his life. They married October 28, 1959 in the Cardston temple. Cal worked hard to provide for his family training horses and ranching. He was often up riding horses before the family was awake, but his first priority was always his family. He has said that raising kids was just like raising horses. He also said that all horses want to be good, we just have to teach them how. There must have been something to it because he raised all his kids with a desire to do what was right. Cal's married life took him and his family to many Alberta homes: Claresholm, Calgary, Edmonton, Stony Plain, St. Paul, Cardston and finally Stirling. In their senior years Cal and Marilyn also served a mission in Australia. Cal was always ready with a helping hand and had a unique way of making everyone feel valued. He gave service willingly and made people feel like they were doing him a favour by letting him help. His smile was contagious and he shared genuine love with everyone. He had a joy for life which radiated from him wherever he went. "Happy day" were words often heard from Cal. Held in high esteem with all who know him, Calvin's life has touched countless people.

We are a community of possibilities, not of problems.

We are action takers.
We are optimistic.

It's not about what this town used to be.

We have people right now, assets right here, and we can take action right away. We don't need another plan, another committee, or another meeting.

We can do it now!

We create the moments that show what this town could be and the places that take our breath away, if only just for a moment. What we create doesn't have to be permanent to create possibility. We don't care about titles or who holds official positions. The people who do hold titles may not think like us.

That's OK.

No one can stop us from doing the little things that really matter. We'd rather help 10 people try their own ideas than to hold a vote and tell everyone to support the "winner." That might be more efficient, but efficiency isn't our goal.

Community is our goal.

We try everyone's ideas. We don't let statistics and negative reports beat us up. Those numbers are nothing but a snapshot in time. What we do next is up to us. We aren't changing our town to attract others to come save us.

We are valuing the people who are here now and what we all want to create together.

That means everyone, every single one. People of all ages, all ethnicities, all backgrounds, all incomes, people who are new in town and people who have been here for generations.

All of us have ways of doing things, culture and things to share.

We all want a thriving town with a future for generations. We thrive by doing more business together.

*We have everything
we need.*

We celebrate the entrepreneurs, business people, dreamers, makers, artists, experimenters, performers, crafters, bakers, upcyclers, junkers, people who sell in booths and homes and parking lots and trucks and sheds. Together we prosper, right here where we are. We are creating the community we want one small step at a time. It's nothing short of a revolution in how we build our town together.

As a long time hobby beekeeper (and I recommend that hobby to anybody), I read The American Bee Journal every month. In one of the first issues of 2020, in the editor, Eugene Makovic's monthly editorial message, he wrote: "Whether a product of God or of Mother Nature, the existence of Apis Mellifera in our world is nothing short of miraculous".

I was touched by the fact that someone out there even mentioned God, and sent the following comment: Hi Eugene, First of all, thank you for a great bee magazine. You mentioned God in your letter. It triggered my letter to you. This could only happen in America. If anyone asked me if I believe in God, I would have to answer no, because I know there is a God. Since I joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in 1972, I have had so many experiences that testify to me that that Church is true, I would be a liar if I denied it. Now I do not hold it against you when you express doubts about the existence of God. In America you still have the freedom to have agency; the very basis for progress in human beings (Agency-Choice-Consequence). Keeping it short, I would just like to grab hold of the last sentence in your letter: "Whether a product of God or of Mother Nature, the existence of Apis Mellifera in our world is nothing short of miraculous." I agree. But what is a miracle, other than a natural thing, the creation of which we don't know how. Once we know how, it is no longer a miracle; only a natural process. You might add though: How was life added? Or: What happens at death? This summer my friend Ed and I are once again going to enjoy beekeeping. Ed is a retired veterinarian. Last year when we pulled into one of my yards, I blurted out as we got out of my truck and we looked out over the Southern Alberta prairies toward the beautiful Rocky Mountains a few miles to the west: "What can be better than this?" Ed: "Nothing!" Now, this is one of the many "miracles" we experience up here in the north in the summer.

To my surprise, I found this comment in the July issue to my entry in the May issue of the ABJ: THE 11TH COMMANDMENT?: I am writing in response to the letters in the May ABJ in which two readers discuss their belief in God and the role of God in the creation of the honey bee. I respectfully suggest that ABJ writers and readers alike follow what I call the 11th commandment: Thou shalt keep thy religion to thyself.

Signed : Tom Chester. Tucson AZ

My comment to that is: ...that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. (2 Peter 1: 20,21) So Moses being a prophet and a holy man was given the 10 commandments from God, while on the mountain in God's presence. But who are you, Tom Chester? Now, with a little bit of humour I get the point of your "11th commandment" and you have every right to say what you said. But if that's right, that I also have every right to say what I said. That is a constitutional right. I love the American constitution as inspired and given by God, including the first amendment. Let's not introduce the tactics of the CCP whether in the USA or in Canada.
