Village Council News:

Welcome to August!

It's been a wonderful month so far. It would be nice if we could receive some rain now, but oh what a wonderful summer we've had so far.

We haven't had as many meetings for the summer, so there isn't as much to report as usual. However; I did go to the waste management meeting, and I did learn something really interesting, so I thought I would share it with you.

Do you have stuff that you have no idea where to dump it?

Things like oil, concrete, old paint, etc. are not accepted at our local waste transfer site. Do you have those things hanging around your yard or farm? Well, you can celebrate today! Because we belong to Chief Mountain Solid Waste Authority, we have access to all of the dump sites from Milk River to Hill Spring. Under this authority, there are transfer sites that accept these items. If you aren't sure which site takes the items you can't dump at our transfer site, give me a call (403) 382-9924. I would have posted the list here, but I didn't get on it in time. Now I'm out of town, and I don't have my notes with me. I'll get it posted next month.

Thanks for being such a wonderful village. As council, we appreciate your support more than we can say. You are all amazing! As for more news, it's coming. But it will have to wait for next month.

Councillor Sandy Lybbert

It was an honest mistake . . .

Attending the fair a few years ago, nature called, and I was standing in line for a large blue porta-potty. In front of me was an older woman and in front of her was a younger man. The young man entered, came out, and the woman ahead of me went in. She came out shortly, quite mad. "How disgusting!" she said, "That young man just peed in the purse holder." Evidently I haven't been using the urinal to its full potential.

By Jill Woolf

Hello. My name is Brian Wickhorst and I am running to be on the Village council to work with the great team of people that currently serve this wonderful village.

I first moved to Glenwood as a teen ager and finished high school in the area. When I decided to retire and find a quiet place to settle in, Glenwood was the place because of so many factors. Friends and family were the major influencers.

I believe that I have talents and experience in life and business to make a solid contribution to the existing village council and the village. Here is a quick personal background of what I have done over the years:

- In 1987 when I created a private investigation company based in Calgary, I was also court qualified as a handwriting and document expert. I have worked for many law firms throughout western Canada as a handwriting expert for contested wills, documents and performed many trouble shooting services. I also worked with the heads of security for many of the oil companies, banks, rail companies, University of Calgary and many more performing problem resolving services. This required a creative mind and the ability to think outside the box for answers.
- I have presented at many conferences as a Graphoanalyst such as teacher conventions, provincial and national conferences for a number of professional associations. I have also provided team development workshops for the groups like the CBE, City of Calgary, various conventions and private companies. The ability to work with people and work in a team environment will help serving on council to help create new opportunities for our community to thrive.
- Was a manager for a medium sized construction company and have managed budgets of up to 30 million dollars. The challenge that I was tasked with was to rebuild a team of site supervisors and foremen so that the jobs which were failing badly could be turned into successful projects. With some creative thinking and restructuring management, we worked well as a team and completed the projects. One of the jobs was for the City of Lethbridge. Thinking outside the box and being creative with resources in hand are important to challenges to companies and communities like ours.
- Worked as an energy efficient consultant for power companies such as Trans-Alta, West Kootenay Power, Fortis and more. I specialized in energy efficiency in enveloping and lighting. I provided the technology and project management for numerous projects over a 10 year period of time. Because of my experience with energy companies and knowledge of energy services, I supported the opportunity for the Village to become active agents for retail power sales. I have retailed energy services for a number of years and I know that this is a great way to provide income for the village and help the community members save money on their energy costs. If you have any issues or questions about your energy bills, bring them to me and I will help you understand them and what you can do to save money if possible. There is always ways to improve on our energy costs and power production.

- My wife and I have managed a large apartment building that was owned by a group of doctors. I have also been on council and the president of a large condo association in Chilliwack BC. Both situations were a challenge because of previous management and development needs. We were successful in creating a close community of people as we worked together on ways to improve our homes and become good friends and neighbors. We all have basic needs that are for the most part common to all members of the community. We just need to be able to communicate our individual concerns and ideas for our common benefit as community members.

So why would anyone desire to be on a council? For me it is the opportunity to serve the community that I love and to give back to the people that I cherish as family and friends here in Glenwood.

I believe that I have the ability to be creative, think outside the box and help build a community that will be beneficial to all in the village. This can be done by working closely with the village council and each member of our great community. We need to care for each other.

Thank you for your support.

My wife accused me of stealing her thesaurus. Not only was I shocked; I was appalled, aghast & dismayed.

Checking in on the interest in having a Chili Cookoff for Glenwood Days

Reading up on the history of Chili I found this article by Dan Myers <https://www.thedailymeal.com/eat/there-are-no-beans-real-chili-just-ask-texan>

There Are No Beans in Real Chili: Just Ask a Texan

In Texas, chili is all about the beef and chiles

Conjure a bowl of chili in your head. Does it have big chunks of tomatoes, little nuggets of ground beef, and lots of red beans? Then you're probably not from Texas. Because in Texas, you'll rarely (if ever) find a bowl of chili that contains beans.

There's a saying in Texas: "If you know beans about chili, you know chili ain't got no beans." In Texas, "chili" is shorthand for chile con carne, which translates to "chile peppers with meat." No beans in sight.

Most people think that chili can trace its origins to Mexico, but it's actually an authentically Texan dish. As the Houston Press explains, "In the 1700s, the government of New Spain recruited Canary Islanders to move to San Antonio. Canary Island women made a tangia-like stew with meat, cumin, garlic, chile peppers, and wild onions that they cooked outdoors in copper kettles in their settlement, La Villita." Their peculiar, chile and cumin-heavy spice blend resembled the Berber seasoning style of Morocco." Another early version of chili was a shelf-stable brick of dried beef, suet, and chiles that could be mixed with water to provide cowboys with sustenance out on the range. Over the years, as chili made its way throughout the rest of the United States, it picked up plenty of additional ingredients, but in Texas, it hasn't changed much from its early days as a Moroccan-style stew.

Head to Texas today and order a "bowl of red" (as the locals call it), and you'll indeed receive something that more closely resembles a simple beef stew than your vision of modern-day chili: tender chunks of beef (usually chuck) in a rich, thick sauce that contains chiles, maybe some additional spices, and not much else. No tomatoes, no beans. It might not be how you picture chili, but a great bowl of Texas red is a thing of beauty.

Do you have an original Chili recipe? Do you think you can create a Chili that tastes amazing, and you are ready to showcase your skills?

If this sounds interesting to you then let's get this cook off happening!

What we need:

- ♥ Great Chili cooks
- ♥ People who love chili to judge each recipe
- ♥ Hungry people who will buy a bowl of your chili

If you are interested in having a Chili cookoff as part of our Glenwood days celebration on Saturday September 3rd please contact me, Leisa Olson 587.877.8041
