GLEANINGS

WELCOME TO THE NOVEMBER EDITION OF THE GLENWOOD GLEANINGS!

November is here, bringing cooler days and a little time to catch our breath before the hustle and bustle of December begins. This month's edition is a smaller one, but there are still community updates, local happenings, and a few things to keep on your radar. As we head toward the holiday season, we hope you enjoy a quieter November, take time to connect with friends and neighbours, and stay up to date with what's happening around Glenwood!

With the holiday season fast approaching, the Cardston RCMP is encouraging residents to stay vigilant and recognize the warning signs of fraud. Increased online shopping, parcel deliveries and seasonal fundraising campaigns create opportunities for scammers to take advantage of unsuspecting individuals.

Taking a few simple precautions and understanding how common scams operate can go a long way in protecting your money, personal information and peace of mind during the holiday season.

Garden Tips

glenwoodneighbours@gmail.com
Tip #1
Too Many Tomatoes?
According to my dad there's no such thing. He ate tomatoes every day and even into his 80's his doctor said he had the prostate of a young man. Apparently it was because of the lycopene, a substance that gives tomatoes their red colour, also found in watermelon and pomegranates. Even though I'm eating tomatoes at every meal, it's hard to stay ahead of them this time of year. Canning and saucing them takes time so I wash and dry ripe tomatoes and freeze them whole. To use, simply run the frozen fruit under hot water. The skins slide off and then the tomatoes can be added to your soups and stews or made into sauce when you have more time.
Tip #2
Plant for Spring Beauty Now
With our mild fall weather there's still time to plant daffodils, tulips and hyacinths for a profusion of colour in spring (before most other flowers). I recently spotted bulbs at Walmart, Canadian Tire and Home Depot (best price). Plant bulbs three to four inches deep and water well. They will come back every year so it's a long-term invest. Daffodils (also called narcissus) apparently repel deer.
3-4"
Tip #3
Storing Carrots
No cold room? No problem. Wash carrots and completely trim off the green parts. Dry thoroughly. Sort by size, put in plastic bags and refrigerate. Use the smallest carrots first. Occasionally check remaining bags and remove any carrots that have soft ends or signs of deterioration. I've successfully stored carrots using this method some years until Easter.
Our Goal is to build a resilient, connected community.
Remember to keep feeding your soil! Cheers!
